ON THE COVER: THE COLLEGE'S J. STEWART WALKER JR. SAILING COMPLEX IN MT. PLEASANT, WHICH WAS MADE POSSIBLE SOLELY THROUGH DONOR FUNDING

“To achieve greatness, we must approach the next period of our history with an unshakable and unwavering focus on our goals and our envisioned future.”

TO OUR COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON COMMUNITY:

The College of Charleston has reached a crossroads. The time has come for the College to better define itself, move forward toward a more secure financial future, and become one of the best liberal arts and sciences institutions in the nation.

The direction we have chosen is bold and not without risk. It will require devotion and commitment from every member of the College family. Fortunately, we have a guide to lead us on our journey.

On October 16, 2009, the College’s Board of Trustees unanimously approved a new Strategic Plan. It is the result of nearly two years of information gathering, analysis, feedback and more analysis by the university community. The final product is a collective vision that will guide the College for the next decade and beyond.

The plan calls for the College to maintain a strong liberal arts and sciences core while simultaneously emphasizing and developing program areas that take advantage of and add value to Charleston and the Lowcountry. We will increasingly focus on and draw inspiration from our region’s unique history, culture, industries and coastal ecosystem.

While we will hold fast to our liberal arts roots and our student-centered culture, we must move even farther away from the outdated ivory tower paradigm that dominated much of higher education in the U.S. throughout the 20th century. We will become more focused on our community, the state and their needs – the antithesis of a university where students live and study behind iron gates without meaningful connections to the world around them. The education of our students will extend far beyond our campus and will fuse study with application, and knowledge with experience.

The enabling force behind the Strategic Plan is a new financial model for the College. It calls for the College to be more entrepreneurial and to establish a culture of philanthropy and, thereby, become less reliant on state funding. With this model in place, we will align resources with institutional priorities. We will recruit and retain the most distinguished faculty. We will ensure that the best and brightest students are not turned away from a college education due to a lack of financial resources.

To achieve greatness, we must approach the next period of our history with an unshakable and unwavering focus on our goals and our envisioned future. But the achievement of our goals will require a significantly higher level of private support. This is where you can make a difference. Your past support has been vital to the College’s success. Going forward, we need your support to not only continue, but to grow! With a solid plan to guide us and your renewed support, the College of Charleston will achieve national and international distinction and a more secure financial future.

Sincerely,

P. George Benson
President

TO OUR ALUMNI, PARENTS AND MANY FRIENDS:

Storms happen. It's a fact in nature. And it's a fact in the financial world as well.

This past year was, without doubt, full of storms. While it was a difficult year due to continued market uncertainty, 2009 was also a year for finding hope. The College realized improvement in important areas such as parent leadership giving, volunteer board giving, College of Charleston Fund unrestricted cash receipts and net new commitments. The College of Charleston Foundation saw better investment portfolio returns and significant growth in its net assets. Thankfully, we ended the year in far better condition than where we began, and we believe that we will build on that momentum going into 2010.

The primary reason we have weathered these financial storms so far is simple: It is because of you, the donor.

You, the donor, understand the importance of higher education. You, the donor, recognize that every gift has an impact on this campus. You, the donor, continue to model the way as a philanthropist, believing in the positive net effect the College of Charleston has on its students, its faculty and staff, its alumni and the greater community. You, the donor, play a critical role in providing the margin of excellence that takes this institution from good to great. And, you, the donor, inspire all of us at the College with your generosity, involvement and unwavering support.

President Kennedy once observed that a rising tide lifts all boats, and that lesson surely applies here. There is certainly a rising tide at the College – just look at our recruitment numbers, both in quantity and quality; our amazing faculty, student and alumni achievements; and our growing national and international reputation as a leader in higher education. It's your ties and collaboration with the College that help make this rising tide possible.

Thanks for all you do – and for all you will continue to do – for the College of Charleston. It is a privilege to acknowledge your enthusiastic support.

Go Cougars!

George P. Watt Jr.
Executive Vice President, Institutional Advancement
Executive Director, College of Charleston Foundation

“There is certainly a rising tide at the College – just look at our recruitment numbers, both in quantity and quality; our amazing faculty, student and alumni achievements; and our growing national and international reputation as a leader in higher education. It's your ties and collaboration with the College that help make this rising tide possible.”

Henry Blackford, George Watt and Winfield Sapp Jr.

Donors made the College of Charleston a priority through a number of philanthropic ways. Once again, the College benefited from a year of generous giving from individuals, corporations and foundations who supported the College with annual, endowment, capital, programmatic and estate gifts. Thanks to this generosity, 2009 was a remarkable year of numerous accomplishments at the College.

- ▶ Thanks to the Cato family and a number of other leader donors, the College was able to open the 70,000-square-foot Marion and Wayland H. Cato Jr. Center for the Arts in January. Located at the corner of St. Philip and Calhoun streets, the arts center includes exhibition space, dance and theatre facilities, photography studios and incredible views of downtown Charleston. Also, friends to the School of the Arts, Nancye Starnes and the Kite Foundation, pledged $200,000 to support the recruitment of students in the areas of piano, jazz, strings and theatre.
- ▶ Charlotte '37 and Bob Dickson chose to make the College a significant part of their personal legacies by supporting unrestricted scholarships, $1 million now, $2 million later. They utilized four different estate-planning techniques to provide scholarship support in a most meaningful way.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT

SARA DAISE

Hometown: Beaufort, S.C.

Major: Communication

Class Year: Junior

When Sara isn't working at the Avery Research Center for African American History and Culture or editing the Crazyhorse literary journal, she's using her creativity to pen her own poems and original writing.

- ▶ Jim and Esther Ferguson donated their villa "La Casita" in Trujillo, Spain, to the College for use by faculty members and staff members leading the study-abroad experience. The College offers a spring semester in Trujillo, a city in the Extremadura region southwest of Madrid. This is the second property in Trujillo the Fergusons have donated to the College.
- ▶ College of Charleston Foundation board member Gus Gustafson '75 led the efforts to increase the giving to and visibility of the College of Charleston Fund among Foundation board members and to the College. The College of Charleston Fund continues to provide critical support to the needs that are not covered by state appropriations, tuition and fees.

2009 GIVING BY CONSTITUENCY FOR TOTAL NEW COMMITMENTS

($8.2 Million)

- ▶ Four four-year computer science scholarships were donated by BiblioLabs, a Charleston digital-media company that counts at least eight College alumni as employees, including Bob Holt '81, Mitchell Davis '93 and Jason Youmans '02.
- ▶ Thanks to a $305,000 gift from the Gaylord and Dorothy Donnelley Foundation, the College's Addlestone Library unveiled the Lowcountry Digital Library, an online archive designed to accommodate more than 50,000 documents housed in or around the Lowcountry in public and private collections, including maps, diaries and personal papers.
- ▶ Peter and Susan Schottland, parents of two daughters who attend the College, created the Schottland Scholars Program to provide professional development for some of the College's most ambitious and exceptional business students, allowing them to have mentoring experiences with top industry leaders.

2009 GIVING BY CONSTITUENCY TO THE COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON FUND

($985,000)

YEAR AT A GLANCE

Once again, in 2009, students, faculty, staff and the College of Charleston itself received national and international recognition and attention. Whether it was through innovative academic research, pioneering entrepreneurial initiatives, exciting sports highlights or entertaining and thought-provoking events with national speakers, performers or political leaders, the College made 2009 a year to remember.

JANUARY

Music professor Trevor Weston's composition "Truth Tones" was performed at the 2009 Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Concert in Boston and broadcast on more than 200 television stations across the country.

FEBRUARY

College students raised more than $70,000 for the Children's Miracle Network at the Medical University of South Carolina Children's Hospital by dancing for 15 hours straight during a dance marathon at the Carolina First Arena.

Women's basketball coach Nancy Wilson earned her 500th career victory with the Cougars' victory over Georgia Southern. Two months earlier, men's basketball coach Bobby Cremins earned his 500th win.

MARCH

English professor Scott Peeples was awarded a Fulbright Specialist grant for his scholarship on author Edgar Allan Poe.

Communication professor Robert Westerfelhaus was given a Fulbright Lectureship award, enabling him to teach film, media and American pop-culture courses at Maria Curie-Sklodowska University in Poland in 2009 and 2010.

The College's equestrian team won its sixth straight IHSA Zone Five Championship and advanced to IHSA National Championship Horse Show.

APRIL

More than 12,500 students applied to the College for the fall 2009 semester – a new record!

The College held a memorial event for late political science professor Bill Moore. The popular professor taught for 37 years at the College and was the voice of Cougar basketball.

Women's tennis captured the Southern Conference Championship and qualified for the NCAA Tournament. Coach Angelo Anastopoulo also earned his 500th career win.

MAY

Marketing executive Charlotte Beers and globalization expert Dennis Encarnation '74 addressed about 1,500 students receiving undergraduate and graduate degrees as part of the College's spring commencement ceremony.

The College's Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) team placed first runner-up in the SIFE USA National Exhibition in Philadelphia. SIFE encourages students to be responsible civic and business leaders.

JULY

From Tehran, Iranian-American student Sanaz Arjomand '11 blogged about the controversial Iranian elections, with her posts being picked up by radio show World Focus and online news source The Huffington Post.

The College launched the Lowcountry Digital Library with partnering institutions, making rare and unique documents available on the Internet. It will have more than 50,000 images available within the next three years.

AUGUST

Communication professor Leigh Moscowitz received the Nafziger-White-Salwen Dissertation Award at the national meeting of the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication. Her dissertation, "For Better or Worse: News Discourse, Gay Rights Activism, and the Same-Sex Marriage Debate," analyzed recent media coverage of the controversy surrounding gay marriage.

The College launched a redesigned website at www.cofc.edu.

JUNE

Bestselling author and College parent Dorothea Benton Frank launched her newest book tour at the College of Charleston Bookstore, signing copies of Return to Sullivans Island.

Assistant professor of art history Matthew Canepa was awarded the Charles A. Ryskamp Fellowship from the American Council of Learned Societies, supporting the research and writing of his newest book Iran Between Alexander and Islam. A few months earlier, Canepa was inducted into the Society of Antiquaries in London.

SEPTEMBER

Acclaimed author and veteran Tim O'Brien spoke at the Carolina First Arena and read from his Vietnam War novel The Things They Carried. Incoming students discussed the book in their first semester as part of The College Reads! program.

Newspaper journalist Gina Smith '97, former White House press secretary Mike McCurry, former international political consultant-of-the-year Phil Noble and political insider Tucker Eskew participated in a media panel on political scandal and crisis communication broadcast on C-SPAN. Smith, a reporter for Columbia's The State newspaper, interviewed missing S.C. Gov. Mark Sanford at the Atlanta airport upon his return from visiting his mistress in Argentina.

OCTOBER

The Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art opened its new gallery space in the new Marion and Wayland H. Cato Jr. Center for the Arts at the corner of St. Philip and Calhoun streets. Its inaugural exhibition in the new space was Aldwyth's Work v./ Work n. – Collage and Assemblage 2001–2009.

The Yaschik/Arnold Jewish Studies Program at the College celebrated its 25th anniversary. A donation from Henry and Sylvia Vlosky Yaschik in 1984, as well as a matching endowment from Norman and Gerry Sue Arnold, have been critical gifts for the program.

NOVEMBER

Jordan Thomas '11 was honored at a star-studded gala in Hollywood as a 2009 CNN Top 10 Hero. Thomas, who lost both his legs from the calves down in a 2005 boating accident, has raised more than $400,000 through the Jordan Thomas Foundation to help children in need of prosthetics.

Outfielder Brett Gardner '05 won a World Series ring as a member of the New York Yankees.

Fashion designer Carol Hannah Whitfield '07 was a top finalist on Project Runway: Season Six, a reality TV competition on the Lifetime Network.

The College's volleyball team defeated Furman University to win the Southern Conference Championship and qualify for the NCAA tournament.

DECEMBER

Associate business professor David Desplaces received the Freedoms Foundation Leavey Award for Excellence in Private Enterprise Education for his work with business students in bringing computers and entrepreneurship workshops to people in Cameroon.

The College of Charleston launched the first interactive, self-guided university tour application for the Apple iPhone and iPod Touch.

Potential students can download the free tour on their own device before visiting, or borrow an iPod Touch from the admissions office. The tour features student guides, 18 videos of campus, nearly 60 images of student life, as well as GPS assistance.

DECEMBER

Charleston Mayor Joe Riley addressed nearly 500 undergraduate students and 70 students receiving their graduate degrees during the winter commencement ceremony, urging them to create better and more memorable cities. Honorary degree recipients were musical theatre composer Mel Marvin '62 and sweetgrass basket artist Mary Jackson.

The College's new School of Sciences and Mathematics Building opened at the corner of Calhoun and Coming streets and features a 150-seat auditorium and state-of-the-art lab facilities. The new building houses the biology and chemistry/biochemistry departments.

CISTERN SOCIETY

Members of the Cistern Society embody the importance of legacy. The Cistern is a sacred landmark in the College community since its construction in 1857. The Cistern Society emphasizes the importance of such permanence, and its members choose to support the College through gift and estate planning.

LIST OF DONORS

We thank the following alumni, parents, faculty, staff, friends, corporations, foundations and estates for their support to the College of Charleston in 2009. This list reflects gifts received from donors of record for the period of January 1 through December 31, 2009.

Every contribution, of any size, makes a significant impact in supporting the vision of the College. Your generosity continues a long-standing tradition of academic excellence and provides critical services such as the creation of new scholarships, expansion of academic and faculty programs and the renovation and construction of new facilities.

We are grateful for your commitment and priority to the College.

THE RECIPIENT OF A MULTI-MILLION-DOLLAR NAMING GIFT, THE CAROLINA FIRST ARENA IS HOME TO THE COUGARS BASKETBALL AND VOLLEYBALL PROGRAMS, WHICH COMPETE ON JOHN KRESSE COURT. THE FUNDRAISING INITIATIVE FOR THE ARENA WAS SPEARHEADED BY LOCAL PHILANTHROPIST EDWIN PEARLSTINE AND LEGENDARY COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON BASKETBALL COACH JOHN KRESSE. THE ARENA LOBBY BEARS THE PEARLSTINE/LIPOV NAME, WHICH ALSO HONORS EDWIN'S DAUGHTER AND SON-IN-LAW, JAN AND LARRY LIPOV, IN RECOGNITION OF THEIR GENEROUS SUPPORT.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS
COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON

NAMED FOR ENTREPRENEUR AND PHILANTHROPIST GUY BETTY AND HIS FAMILY, THE BETTY CENTER FOR THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS IS AN ARCHITECTURAL BLEND OF OLD AND NEW. INSPIRED BY THE HISTORIC CHARLESTON SINGLE HOUSE, THE BETTY CENTER FEATURES STATE-OF-THE-ART SMART CLASSROOMS, THE WACHOVIA AUDITORIUM AND THE ALUMNI ATRIUM, FRAMED BY A FOUR-STORY GLASS WALL.
