RECOGNIZING THE BENEFITS OF HAVING A HISTORIC DOWNTOWN CAMPUS AND A PLANTATION CAMPUS JUST 17 MILES AWAY ON THE INTRACOASTAL WATERWAY AND THE STONO RIVER, PRESIDENT P. GEORGE BENSON LAID OUT A VISION FOR DIXIE PLANTATION AS AN ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES AND SUSTAINABILITY CAMPUS. BUT IT IS HIS HOPE THAT DIXIE WILL BE HEAVILY USED BY STUDENTS AND FACULTY FROM ALL DISCIPLINES.

TO OUR COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON COMMUNITY:

I'm honored to provide to you the College of Charleston 2013 Donor Report. Today, the College is doing very well. We are once again nationally ranked, and we continue to make progress on our goals and to improve the quality of the academic experience for our students. Our financial position remains strong and is getting better every day thanks to your support. We have certainly come a long way since our founding in 1770 and my arrival in February 2007.

Since 2007, we have completed important facility projects, established new academic programs, and set records in student applications and the number of students studying abroad. Further, while navigating through an unprecedented economic recession, we more than doubled private giving to the College.

In 2013, we began conference play in the Colonial Athletic Association. Our move to the Colonial is bringing greater national exposure to the College and developing new athletics, academic and professional development opportunities for our entire campus community. In addition, our move is generating more interest from prospective students and their families, and from employers up and down the East Coast. All of this helps increase the value of every College of Charleston degree - past, present and future.

Clearly there has been much to celebrate over the past seven years, and we owe much of that to you. Through your faithful support and collaboration - your advocacy, your financial contributions and your generous gifts of self - we have achieved so much. Every day we see the impact of your gifts across our campus, from scholarships to the continued growth of our Jewish Studies Program to exciting new academic initiatives in our School of Business and School of Sciences and Mathematics. You truly are making a difference in the lives of our faculty, staff and students. You can read more about your positive impact on our campus community on the following pages.

Over the past year, alumni, faculty, staff, friends, businesses, and foundations continued to make the College one of their top philanthropic priorities. In 2013, total giving reached $14.6 million. Of the $14.6 million in new commitments, $2.5 million was raised through our 13 annual giving funds, including significant increases in student giving with the establishment of a new student philanthropy group called Committed to Charleston. We also saw a 130% increase in online donations with the launch of new giving and alumni websites.

This unprecedented level of engagement from you is evidence of our growing culture of philanthropy. The development of that culture is without question the most important goal of our current comprehensive fundraising campaign.

To date, through the quiet phase of the College's Comprehensive Campaign, we have raised more than $58 million toward our five strategic campus-wide priorities: scholarships, world-class faculty, distinctive academic and campus-life programs, modern learning and research spaces, and our annual giving programs. I am confident that with your continued generosity and advocacy we will well surpass $100 million before the public launch of the campaign this fall.

I am extremely grateful and proud to have worked with you to position the College of Charleston as a distinguished and distinctive national liberal arts and sciences university with a global reach. Thank you for your support and generosity and for allowing us to be diligent stewards of your philanthropy.

Sincerely,

P. George Benson
President

In 2013, donors made the College of Charleston a philanthropic priority in a number of ways. Once again, the College benefited from a year of generous giving from alumni, students, parents, friends, corporations and foundations that supported the College with annual, endowment, capital, programmatic and estate gifts. IMPACT SPOTLIGHTS

Each year, private support to the College of Charleston plays a critical role in preserving the College's place as one of the nation's best public liberal arts and sciences universities for quality education, student life and affordability. Private philanthropy touches every corner of campus, from student scholarships and research funds for faculty to innovative technology.

The impact of your gifts reaches across South Carolina and the world. Meet the students, faculty, programs and places impacted by your gifts.

CHRIS AND MACE BROWN DONATE $1.6M INTERNATIONAL FOSSIL COLLECTION

Chris and Mace Brown donated more than 1,500 rare fossil specimens valued at more than $1.6 million to the College's School of Sciences and Mathematics to establish the Mace Brown Museum of Natural History. The visually stunning collection features North American land and sea creatures, and more than 90% of these lived in South Carolina for millions of years.

“This priceless resource will bring national and international recognition to the College and will be enjoyed by students, faculty, visitors and schoolchildren for generations. We are extremely grateful to Chris and Mace for their generosity and their leadership in establishing the museum.” – President P. George Benson

SOUTH CAROLINA HISTORICAL SOCIETY ARCHIVES COMING TO ADDLESTONE LIBRARY

To further strengthen the relationship between the S.C. Historical Society and the College's Addlestone Library, the society pledged $500,000 in 2013 to support modifications that will accommodate the housing of the society's materials, exhibitions and personnel costs to manage the sizeable collection. The society is the state's oldest and largest private repository of books, letters, journals, maps, drawings and photographs about South Carolina history. In 2015, the society plans to transfer its holdings to the College.

THE COCA-COLA FOUNDATION FUELS FIRST GENERATION SCHOLARS

The College of Charleston received a $100,000 grant from the Coca-Cola Foundation to establish the Coca-Cola First Generation Scholars Program. It is the first scholarship program devoted to ensuring access for highly qualified first-generation students at the College. Five South Carolina students receive $5,000 per year for four years to assist with tuition and fees. They will also fulfill a contract committing them to frequent financial and career workshops, academic support services, civic engagement and cultural development - all to achieve the ultimate goal: graduation.

“These scholarships provide life-changing experiences for our students. We are grateful to The Coca-Cola Foundation for their partnership. Their generosity gave five motivated and talented students the opportunity to realize their educational and career goals.” - Provost George Hynd

RECOGNIZING WORLD-CLASS FACULTY: HOWARD F. RUDD JR. AWARD

Justin R. McLain 1998 and Anita Zucker partnered to create the endowed Howard F. Rudd Jr. Distinguished Faculty Award for Service Leadership to honor the legacy of founding School of Business Dean Howard F. Rudd Jr., who retired in spring 2013. This award - the first of its kind at the College - will recognize outstanding, high-performing business professors who lead in Rudd's spirit and example in inspiring students to achieve excellence.

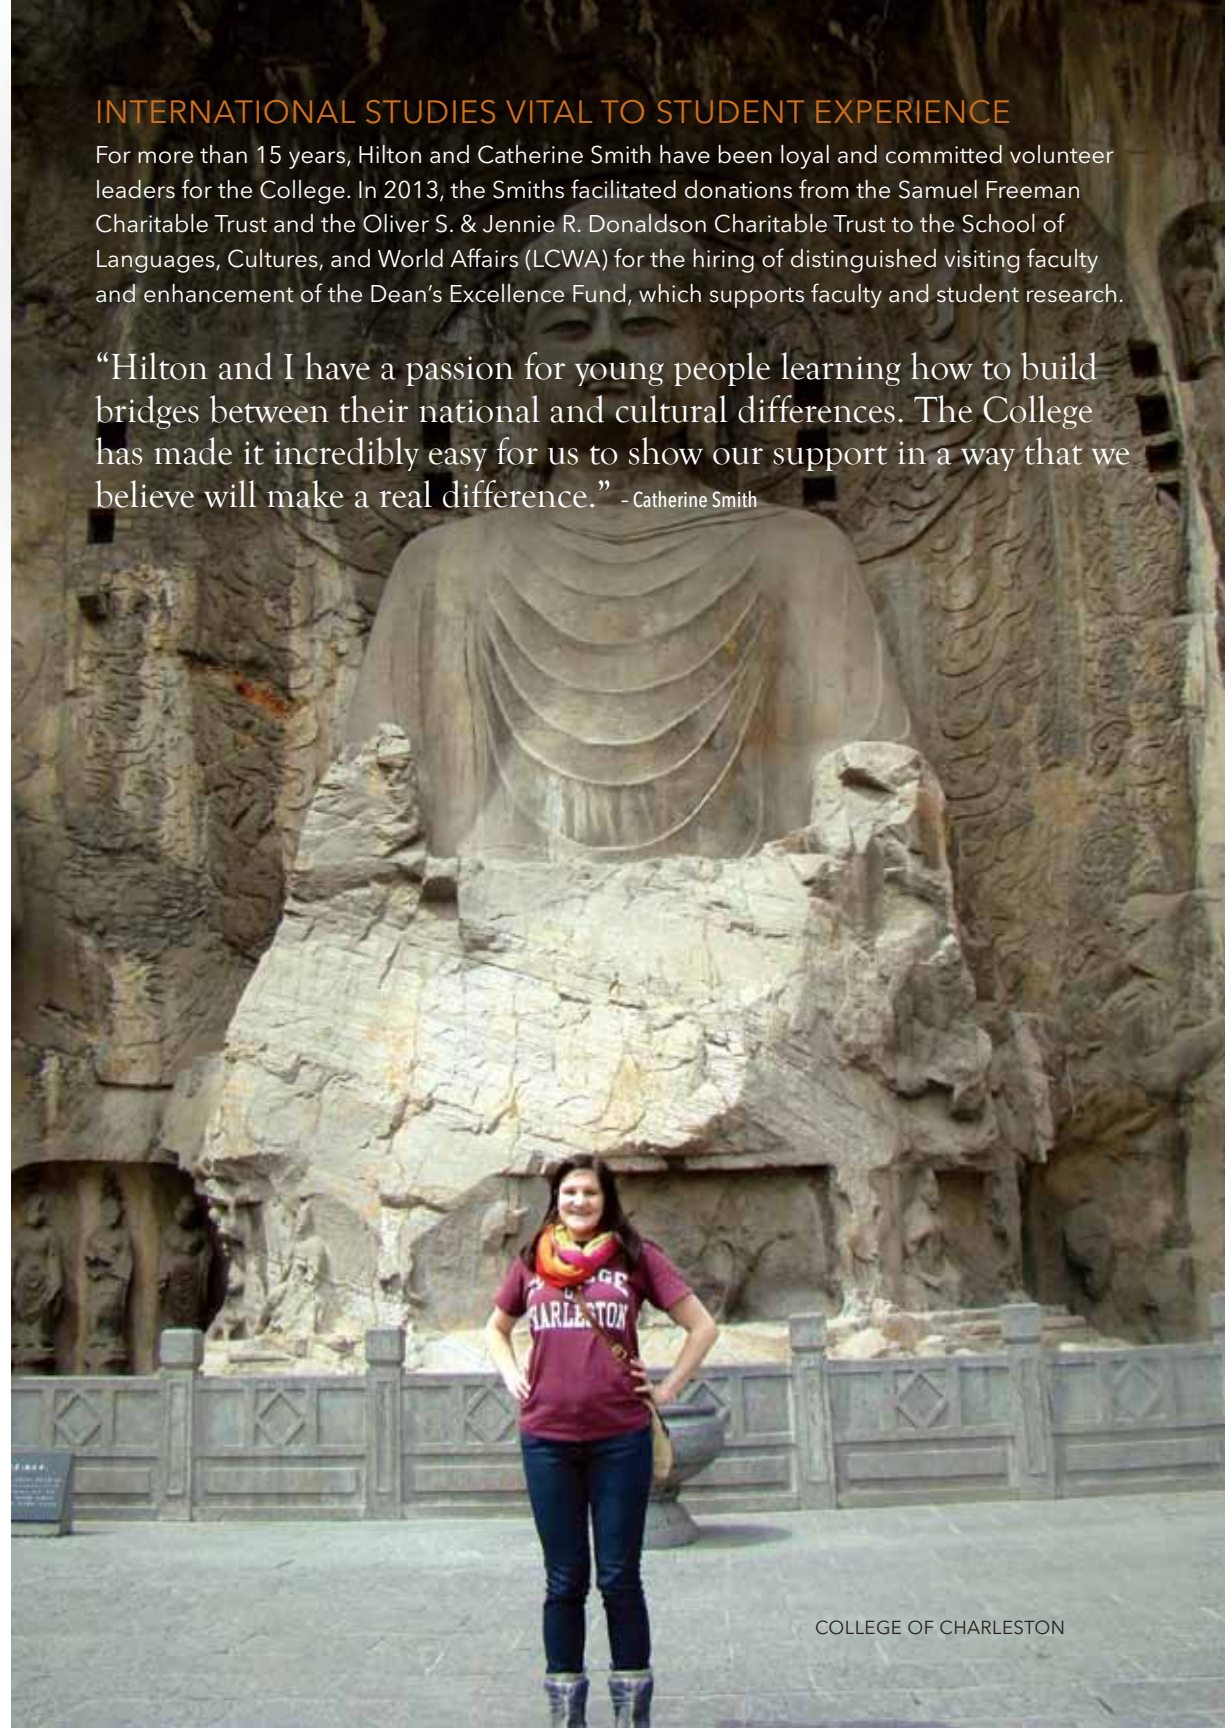

“I’ve seen firsthand the extent to which Howard goes beyond the status quo to maximize exposure and opportunities for his students to achieve great things after graduation. In the same spirit, Anita and I want to help reward those professors who go well beyond the school’s already high standards to really advance the knowledge, experiences and talent of our students.”

- Justin R. McLain

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES VITAL TO STUDENT EXPERIENCE

For more than 15 years, Hilton and Catherine Smith have been loyal and committed volunteer leaders for the College. In 2013, the Smiths facilitated donations from the Samuel Freeman Charitable Trust and the Oliver S. & Jennie R. Donaldson Charitable Trust to the School of Languages, Cultures, and World Affairs (LCWA) for the hiring of distinguished visiting faculty and enhancement of the Dean’s Excellence Fund, which supports faculty and student research.

“Hilton and I have a passion for young people learning how to build bridges between their national and cultural differences. The College has made it incredibly easy for us to show our support in a way that we believe will make a real difference.” - Catherine Smith

HARRY AND REBA HUGE FOUNDATION SUPPORTS FACULTY DEVELOPMENT AWARD

The Harry and Reba Huge Foundation established a Faculty Development Fund to assist faculty members in gaining knowledge of Estonia, to enhance their own teaching and research, to be better prepared to encourage students to participate in international programs, and to potentially prepare for future programs that include students. Brian Ganaway, director of the International Scholars program, (pictured above) was the 2013 recipient. The Huges also invested another $100,000 in their scholarship fund to support an additional cohort of Huge Scholars in the Honors College.

“Most major real estate companies, financial institutions, appraisers, investors, developers and contractors that use institutional capital apply this software when analyzing investment opportunities. These skills will be incorporated into our undergraduate real estate curriculum to better prepare our students for their careers.” – Elaine Worzala, professor of real estate

PROFESSOR SECURES ARGUS SOFTWARE GIFT

Valued at $444,000, the ARGUS Software Inc. package is the industry standard for analyzing an existing or potential real estate investment and their value. Elaine Worzala, director of the Carter Real Estate Center and professor of real estate, facilitated the software gift with ARGUS to ensure students gain ready-to-work skills.

COMMITTED TO CHARLESTON IGNITES STUDENT GIVING

Committed to Charleston is an officially recognized student organization that raises awareness about the impact of giving back annually to the College of Charleston Fund. This giving society, now more than 550 students strong, is open to all students who are interested in enhancing the academic excellence, preserving a student-focused community and making a direct impact on advancing the mission of the College of Charleston.

LINDNER FAMILY SUPPORTS ANNUAL GIVING AND COMMUNICATION SCHOLARSHIPS

When you have confidence, it shows. It's written all over you. You communicate it through your attitude, your words and your actions. And - with gifts totaling more than $1 million since 2008 - Craig and Frances Lindner communicate their confidence in the College, its faculty and its students loud and clear. The Lindners' confidence stems from the experience their daughter, Christine Lindner 2012, had as a communication major at the College - and it's for this reason they support the Parents' Fund and also created the Lindner Communication Scholarships.

“It felt as if I had a group of people cheering me on, and I did not want to disappoint any of them. They became my motivation.”

- Brittany Carlson, 2013 Lindner Scholar (pictured above)

ALUMNA SALLY SEEBECK SUPPORTS FEMALE STUDENT-ATHLETES

Sally A. Seebeck 1960 played on numerous sports teams while a student, most notably the women's basketball team. She was inducted into the College of Charleston Athletics Hall of Fame in 1983. She remembers with great affection her experiences at the College and made an estate gift to establish the Sally A. Seebeck Endowed Scholarship Fund for female student-athletes so that they may have similar opportunities.

W.N. LOOPER AWARD SENDS STUDENTS TO WASHINGTON, D.C.

Ann Looper Pryor 1983 and her husband, Greg, endowed the W.N. Looper Award (named after Ann's father) to help arrange internships in Washington, D.C., and to subsidize the cost of living in the capital. This past summer, the first recipient, senior Kaitlin Foran, spent a month interning for S.C. Representative Mick Mulvaney. The political science major plans to seek a job as a legislative aide to a congressman after graduation.

ALUMNI HONOR CHEMISTRY PROFESSOR W. FRANK KINARD

A College of Charleston legend, chemistry professor W. Frank Kinard, passed away this summer after 41 years of extraordinary service to the students and faculty of the College of Charleston. Kinard loved to mentor students in the lab and inspired many generations of students. George Cobb and wife Peney Patton, both 1982 grads, with fellow alumni Laura McConnell 1987 and Angela Lindner 1983 established a scholarship to honor the man they describe as "one of the greatest role models of all time."

THE POWER OF TWO: JOHN AND DIANNE CULHANE

John and Dianne Culhane reinvented themselves at the College of Charleston. Both retired global corporate executives, they found the College a place to give back, participate and learn with the leaders of tomorrow. They provide personal annual support to several areas including the Honors College, Graduate School, Business School, Cougar Club and the College of Charleston Fund. John and Dianne are also sharing their expertise serving on multiple volunteer boards and in the classroom across campus. John founded and serves as chairman of the Honors College Advisory Board in addition to teaching in the Honors College. Dianne is on the Foundation Board of Directors and the Graduate School Advisory Board, and was recently elected vice chair of the School of Business Board of Governors. The Culhanes are important champions in the corporate world, most recently helping secure a $100,000 grant from The Coca-Cola Foundation to establish the First Generation Coca-Cola Scholarship at the College. They also maximize their giving via the matching gift program at Coca-Cola.

"We know Charleston attracts many retired professionals and hope they, too, will join us in supporting the College just as they support their own alma mater." - John Culhane

HENRIETTA GOLDING ESTATE GIFT SUPPORTS VITAL NEED-BASED SCHOLARSHIPS

Board of Trustees member Henrietta Golding 1974 provided an estate gift to create the Golding Endowed Scholarship Fund to provide scholarships for students with financial need who show leadership potential with an academic commitment to excel. While at the College, Golding was the recipient of yearly scholarships and established this fund to show her appreciation by helping others to achieve their goals.

PEARLSTINE/LIPOV CENTER FOR SOUTHERN JEWISH CULTURE ESTABLISHED

Edwin Pearlstine and his family, Susan Pearlstine and Larry and Jan Lipov, pledged a $1.5 million gift to establish the Pearlstine/Lipov Center for Southern Jewish Culture, with the mission to teach and promote awareness of Southern Jewish history and to collect and archive materials documenting the Southern Jewish experience.

“The Pearlstine family’s remarkable legacy in Charleston embodies the significance of Southern Jewish history and the critical need to preserve and promote this truly American story.” - Martin Perlmutter, director of Jewish Studies Program

MANY GIFTS, ONE LEGACY

Lucian Pinckney and his late wife Milly Deas Pinckney 1951 designated a planned gift in memory of their sons Lucian Jr. and Peter to provide select students with full-tuition scholarships for the Honors College. The 2013 class of Pinckney Scholars studied on four different continents, have been peer mentors and have held leadership roles on campus and community organizations.

“We are so thankful to Milly and Lucian Pinckney. The Pinckney Scholarships are instrumental in securing more bright and motivated students who help set the intellectual pace on our campus.” – Trisha Folds-Bennett, dean of the Honors College

PARENTS’ FUND ENHANCES THE STUDENT EXPERIENCE

“We want to be involved in the amazing evolution of the College to help expand academic offerings and the diversity of programs. Supporting the Parents’ Fund has allowed us to contribute to improvements at the College, especially in the scholarship offerings to highly qualified candidates. We truly feel our gifts are having real and immediate impact.” – Peter and Leslie Gambee, parents of Ingrid 2013 and 2014, and Austin 2014

JEREMY'S GALA SUPPORTS STUDENT INTERNSHIPS

The Chuck and Sara Calhoun Davis Foundation and the School of Education, Health, and Human Performance hosted the sixth annual Jeremy's Scholarship Gala in 2013. The event proceeds support scholarships for aspiring teachers, providing full-tuition support during the semester of a student's clinical internship as they work full-time, without pay, in local public schools. In 2013, the Davis' Foundation contributed $250,000 in support of Jeremy Warren Vann Scholarships.

REUNION CHALLENGE INSPIRES ALUMNI TO STEP UP

In 2013, 377 alumni celebrating a reunion participated in the Reunion Challenge and gave a total of almost $50,000 to the College of Charleston. The winning classes, class of 1973 for dollars raised and class of 1993 for participation, celebrated with a VIP reception at A Charleston Affair.

“We give to the College because it reaches out to the community and truly improves the quality of life for those fortunate enough to live in the greater Charleston area. The College of Charleston is the first organization we have found that truly makes us want to give. Helping students really represents helping the future of our community and country.”

- Pamela and Stanley Kaplan

KAPLAN ARTS SCHOLARSHIPS HELP FIRST-GENERATION STUDENTS

Pamela and Stanley Kaplan enjoy taking classes and attending performances at the College of Charleston so much so that they have chosen to invest in the College as well. As scholarship recipients themselves at their respective universities, the Kaplans understand the significant role that scholarship funding plays in a student's ability to attend college, especially for first-generation college students like studio art major, Kyle Ford 2014. The Kaplan Scholarship Fund for the Arts will provide partial scholarships to nine students over the course of 12 academic years.

LIVE OAK SOCIETY

Taking its name from the majestic live oak trees that make the College's campus so distinct, the Live Oak Society recognizes our most loyal donors (those who give consistently for five years or more and provide the roots of the College's philanthropic foundation). Live Oak Society donors are leaders in making the College of Charleston a priority year after year, and their generosity continues to advance the mission of the College.

ALUMNI ERIC AND LEE COX GIVE BACK:
ERIC 1993 AND LEE 1996 COX LOVE THE COLLEGE. THEY WANT FUTURE STUDENTS TO HAVE THE SAME GREAT, LIFE-SHAPING EXPERIENCES THEY DID, SO THEY DECIDED THEIR LEGACY AT THE COLLEGE WOULD SUPPORT THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS. RATHER THAN CHOOSE BETWEEN THEIR FAMILY OR THE COLLEGE, THEY DECIDED ON A MEANINGFUL GIFT IN THEIR ESTATE TO PROVIDE FOR BOTH THEIR FAMILY AND THE COLLEGE.

NEWBERN ARCHAEOLOGY FUND LAUNCHES CAREERS:
THE T. MILES NEWBERN ENDOWED ARCHAEOLOGY SUPPORT FUND WAS SET UP IN MEMORY OF T. MILES NEWBERN 2011 BY HIS PARENTS TO PAY TRIBUTE TO HIS PASSION FOR THE COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON AND THE HISTORY OF THE LOWCOUNTRY. "THE FUND HELPED ME LAUNCH MY CAREER AS A PROFESSIONAL ARCHAEOLOGIST. THE FUNDING ALLOWED ME TO WORK WITH A DEDICATED GROUP OF ARCHAEOLOGY STUDENTS TO EXCAVATE A SLAVE SETTLEMENT AT DIXIE PLANTATION TO GATHER DATA FOR MY MASTERS, AND I WAS EVEN ABLE TO PRESENT PRELIMINARY RESULTS OF THE EXCAVATION AT THE SOCIETY FOR AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY MEETINGS IN APRIL IN HAWAII." - EVA FALLS 2011

SAM AND REGINA GREENE CELEBRATED 50 YEARS OF MARRIAGE IN 1989. A YEAR LATER, REGINA PASSED AWAY; AND IN 2013, SAM DIED. WANTING TO HONOR THEIR ADOPTED HOME OF CHARLESTON, THE GREENES MADE A BEQUEST OF $500,000 TO THE COLLEGE.

IN TRIBUTE

Thank you to our donors who made gifts to the College in 2013 in memory or in honor of the following special people who made a difference in their lives and in the life of the community. We work diligently to make the list of tribute gifts as complete and accurate as possible.
